

A genealogical profile of Christopher Conant

Birth: Christopher Conant was baptized in East Budleigh, Devonshire on June 13, 1588, son of Richard and Agnes (Clarke) Conant.

Death: He died after November 9, 1630.

Ship: Anne or Little James, 1623

Life in England: Christopher Conant was born in Devonshire in 1588. In 1609, he went to London and apprenticed to a grocer. On March 14, 1616, he was admitted a freeman of the Grocer's Company. He lived in London until emigrating to New England.

Life in New England: Christopher Conant came to New Plymouth in 1623. He received one acre in the land division, so presumably had come alone. He was not listed in the May 22, 1627, division of cattle, and so must have left Plymouth by then. He may have joined his brother, Roger, when the latter left Plymouth Colony and settled further north. Christopher was listed as a juror in Boston in 1630, but either died or returned to England after that.

Family: Christopher married (1) Sicily Croxton at St. Ann Blackfriars in London on August 13, 1617. She was buried at St. Lawrence Jewry, London on August 19, 1618. He married (2) Mrs. Anne Wilton on September 14, 1619, in Shobrooke, Devonshire. There are no recorded children.

Where do I go from here?

Researching your family's history can be a fun, rewarding, and occasionally frustrating project. Start with what you know by collecting information on your immediate family. Then, trace back through parents, grandparents, and beyond. This is a great opportunity to speak to relatives, gather family stories, arrange and identify old family photographs, and document family possessions that have been passed down from earlier generations.

Once you have learned all you can from family members, you will begin to discover other sources. A wide variety of records can help you learn more about the lives of your ancestors. These include birth, marriage, and death records; immigration and naturalization records; land records; census records; probate records and wills; church and cemetery records; newspapers; passenger lists; military records; and much more.

When you use information from any source — an original record, a printed book, or a website — always be careful to document it. If you use a book, you should cite the author or compiler, the full title, publication information and pages used. Also be sure to record the author's sources for the information. If the author's sources aren't provided, you will have to try to find the original source. Many genealogical works contain faulty information, and the Internet also contains many inaccuracies. In order for your work to be accepted — by lineage societies and other genealogists — it must be properly documented.

IMPORTANT GENEALOGICAL RESOURCES

New England Historic Genealogical Society

Founded in 1845, NEHGS is the country's oldest and largest genealogical society.
